§ 194-108. Construction sheds.

[Added 3-28-1985 by L.L. No. 7-1985]

After building permits for basic construction have been granted in accordance with the appropriate provisions of this chapter, temporary construction sheds may be erected on the lot on which primary construction is to be undertaken. Each construction shed shall not be larger in size than 50 square feet unless an application therefor is made to the Building Inspector, such application adequately showing the need for a construction shed of larger size. The Building Inspector may grant permission for the temporary erection and use of such larger construction shed. All construction sheds shall be immediately removed in the event the building permit, originally issued by the Building Inspector, either expires or becomes void, or immediately upon completion of the work authorized by the building permit and prior to the issuance of a certificate of occupancy, unless such construction shed is to be used with respect to the erection of another building for which a building permit has been issued. Under no circumstances shall any construction shed be used for residential purposes.
